Walsh last night gave 'Resurrection' a boost that all the Tolstoisf on earth could not have given. I beg Blanche Walsh's pardon, I thought her Maslova would fail, I was mistaken. Miss Walsh gave superbly artistic performance. The horfor of the ruined woman's life was shown so vividiy that it made you squirm. The abject picture of degradation was so striking that it went home and stayed there. Miss Walsh did work that was a revelation. Just as Maslova made the reputation of the actress in Paris who pute rise to the skies with this." Wagenals and Kemper, Miss Walsh's managers, who never do things by halves, will bring a brilliant company of over forty of 623 South Topeka, Sunday evening, a people and the complete production just as it was seen during its four months run at the Victoria theatre.
